CLEVELAND QUIET

There Were No Outbreaks of Violence on Sunday and But Little Excitement.

CARS RUNNING ON SCHEDULE TIME.

Some Were Practically Empty, as the People Fear to Ride on Them at Present.

Gen. Axline in Favor of Declaring Martial Law in the City—He Thinks That Would Put an End to the Trouble Effectually.

CLEVELAND, O., July 31.—Notwithstanding the fact that big crowds were upon the streets Sunday, there were no outbreaks of violence and apparently little attention was paid to the Big Consolidated cars, which ran on all lines on schedule time. On the South Side and out Broadway to Newburg the cars were run practically empty, but the East Side lines, especially those running to the parks, were well patronized, though they carried fewer passengers by far than usual on fair Sundays.

Adj. Gen. Axline, speaking of the fear of the people to ride on the cars in certain sections of the city at night, said Sunday night:

"This state of affairs is likely to continue for several weeks or months unless a settlement is reached. The only way to put a stop to it is to declare martial law. That will require 4,000 or 5,000 soldiers, and every street will be patrolled. Everybody will be required to remain indoors after a certain hour and all who are out after that time without a permit will be arrested. But martial law would put an end to the trouble effectually."

The only exciting incident on the South Side was the hold up of an ice cream wagon by a crowd of soldiers who took from it a four gallon freezer full of cream. They offered money for the cream but the driver of the wagon refused to accept it, saying he could not sell it. The soldiers says they ordered the cream several days ago and the dealer promised to deliver it but it did not come, probably because of the boycott. When the soldiers saw one of the company's wagons they stopped it and took the cream offered to pay for it.

The people in the neighborhood looked upon this as a great outrage, but the soldiers only laughed and treated it as a huge joke. Business Agent Pratt, of the union of the Big Consolidated strikers issued a statement Sunday in reply to the intimation that there was a breach between the strikers and the employees of the Little Consolidated. The latter have organized a separate union, and have decided not to take part in a sympathy strike.

Pratt thinks they should have joined his union and he says in his statement that the motive which prompted the organization of the separate union was not pure. He accuses certain of the Little Consolidated employees of trying to head off a strike on those lines, and he intimates that it would be unwise to divide the funds and energies of the two unions.

HAMMONSBURG, Ky., July 31.—John A. Huguey, a wealthy farmer and stock trader, who resides on his 500 acre farm which surrounds half of Burgin, was killed at that station. He stepped between cars on a switch when the engine suddenly backed, bumping the cars together. Huguey was caught between the drawbars, and the 14-inch iron coupling link was driven clear through his body and into its place in the socket of the bumper. He was pinned fast for some time before the cars were separated, and then left suspended on the link, which had gone through his clothes and body and pushed several vertebrae of the backbone into the hollow of the drawbar. The coupling links penetrated his abdomen about six inches below the navel. The wounded man was removed to Dr. Meredith's office, where he suffered till relieved by death inside of an hour.

His only brothers, Jake and C. C. Huguey, accompanied by Hons. John Yerkes and Charles Rodes, of Danville, conveyed the remains to that city, where they will be buried Monday. Mr. Huguey was a prominent distiller of Bourbon whisky. His last and dying words were: "Boys, don't fail to vote for Goebel."
